Dear Dr. Dahlgren,

Congratulations! The Delaware Department of Education has reviewed your application for renewal of your school's degree granting authority in the State of Delaware. It has been determined that the Delaware College of Art and Design meets the current requirements for renewal of approval and has been granted an extension of its degree granting authority through the State of Delaware. This approval allows the Delaware College of Art and Design to continue to offer courses, programs and/or degrees to Delaware residents. The degree granting authority is in effect until October 31, 2024 contingent upon continued accreditation by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education and degree granting authority by the State of Delaware.

It is the responsibility of the Delaware College of Art and Design to adhere to Delaware laws and regulations. Additional approvals and submissions may be required for programs intended for licensure. Any questions regarding additional requirements may be submitted to IHE@doe.k12.de.us.

The Delaware College of Art and Design is required to submit any renewals or changes to national, regional, or state accreditation to the Delaware Department of Education as part of the process towards maintaining its authority to confer academic and honorary degrees (14 DE Admin. C. 292). The Delaware College of Art and Design may be required to submit key annual evaluation documents relative to the school's program offerings upon request.

If you have any further questions or concerns, please contact our IHE approvals team at ihe@doe.k12.de.us. Attached to this letter is a summary of the approval status and list of approved programs for your records.
